Thurman, the greatest of Democratic senators, would be missing in the race for President of the United States, in 1880, yet there is not a sane man but who of the Democratic party, and that he not only acted with great judgment and discretion in 1880, yet there is not a sane man but who will admit that Thurman is the crown-center on, B. H. Hardin and Lucy Rilley.

-Yesterday afternoon a conference was held Ohio, but he has done the same throughout at the chamber of [commerce committee | his long career in the senate of the United States; and the Democratic party would comon freights and transportation, agents of freight lines over the Louisville railroad, and the railroad general freight agents. There were present Messrs. N. Fontaine, R. F. Herron, J. Jacobs, C. P. Hunt, Wm. Frolich, W. T. Bowdre, Capt. Alf. G. Tuther, Mr. Burns, of the Louisville road, and Mr. Burns, of the Louisville road and the Democratic party would commit one of the greatest blunders of the age to allow the name of Thurman to be dropped to allow the name of Thurman to be dropped to allow the name of the is a man whose character is unimpeachable; he never allows his mind to be contaminated with things small; he is a man of deep learning and broad views. I have for years watched his course in the sen-E. B. Stahlman, general freight agent of the road. The conference was concerning alleged discrimination in cotton freight against him. In short, he is one of the prominent factors of that great body of statesmen who have led the Democratic party through the widerness and launched it on ground that will be hard and no trouble need be apprehended here-after. The conference was satisfactory both to the committee and the agents of the name of this plain but great man brought before the people as a candidate in 1880 for President of the United States. Who is Mrs. Winslow? As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upward of thirty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female physician her time and talents as a female physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as purse and physician, she has compounded a softhing syrap, for children teething. It operates like magic, giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the howels. In consequent over, sure to regulate the bowels. In conse-quence of this article, Mrs. Winslow is beoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the soothing syrup are daily sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and entire company did well, the major and minor roles being well presented. To-night Lotta will appear as the "Little Detective," and in six benefit of Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup. Try it. mothers; try it now .- Ladies' Visitor, New York city. The December number of the Southern duct. Irish potatoes yield in the duct nessee, by Dr. E. M. Wight, of Chattanooga, made after extensive and protracted investigation, affirms that pulmonary consumption do s not exist among the people, native or resident, of this part of Tennessee. The average temperature during the year is fifty-six degrees, hardly eye; rising to ninety degrees in summer or falling to zero. The late Bishop Hopkins, of Vermont, speni much time at Sewanee, and his biographer sperks of the situation as one where fevers heumaticm and consumption are unknown. This colonization enterprise we understand to be a benevolent one, having for its object to aid worthy poor men desiring to emigrate. Particulars concerning the scheme can be learned of Mr. Charles Stearns, the secre-

> A TENNESSEE COLONY FROM NEW YORK. colony aid association, of this city, has determined to establish its first colony in the Cumberland plateau of East Tennessee. This location has teen chosen on account of the climate, the cheapness of lands, their com-parative nearness to the eastern market, and their adaptation to the methods of northern farmers. Cereals, fruits and root crops flourish in that region, and there is excellent pas-turage for sheap and cattle. The winters are so short and mild that the cost of feeding stock is small. The associa-tion expects to purchase a suitable tract before the first of Januars, and send on a pioneer force to prepare for the coming of the main body of the colonists in the spring. The financial plan is for the aid association to buy the land and furnish capital for buildings, stock and implements, and deed the property to the colonists in separate tracts from time to time, as fast as its advances are repaid with a low rate of interest. Experiments in co-operative farming will be en-couraged, and there will be a reservation for pasturage and fuel, which will be the com-mon property of the colony. A village will be established in the center of the domain, with a co-operative store, school and ma-
